Thousands of Missouri Public Transit Association (MPTA) provider employees work collectively to provide tens of millions of rides a year to customers in every rural and urban county in the state. Service is offered almost everywhere, for everyone, every day.

As communities across Missouri come out of the pandemic, Missouri residents’ reliance on public transportation remains, reaffirming transit is essential to this state. It provides access to jobs, education, healthcare and essential goods and services. It also promotes economic opportunity and results in significant economic returns for the state.

This year the Missouri Public Transit Association (MPTA) is celebrating 44 years of providing a unified voice for public and specialized transportation providers in Missouri working toward elevating the status of public transit as a priority. Four-plus decades later, MPTA continues to work to ensure transit has a voice, by promoting access to public transit services.

Last year marked a historic year for public transit in Missouri. For the first time in more than two decades, the Missouri legislature invested $8.7 million in transit. This critically needed increase will help provide the non-federal or local match required to enable transit providers to draw down some of the $91 billion in federal funds earmarked for transit as part of the $1.2 trillion Infrastructure Investment and Jobs Act. Wins like this are only possible through the work of our diverse membership base.

Public transit is delivering for Missouri. Get on board in 2023.
